DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 60, 61, 109, 112, and 114 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Voydeville Gilles (FR 2724554) (hereafter "Voydeville"). Figs. 1-4 of Voydeville show an implant for placing between spinous processes, the implant having all the limitations as recited in the above listed claims, including: a "body" comprising the combination of elements 5 and 6; a "shaft" 2; a compressible cylindrical spacer 1 rotatably mounted on the "shaft" 2; a first "wing" 3; and a second "wing" 4.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

Art Unit: 3733

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 62-66, 97, 106, 108, 110, 113, 117, and 118 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Voydeville. As previously discussed, Voydeville shows a device that is basically the same as that recited in the above listed claims. However, Voydeville does not show the spacer having alternative shapes of elliptical, oval, and egg-shaped. Further, although Voydeville discloses that the spacer 1 is made of a "semi-rigid" material, the reference is silent as to the specific material of construction. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to construct the spacer to have any anatomically compatible cross-sectional shape, including elliptical, oval, and egg-shaped as claimed, and further to select any biocompatible, semi-rigid material as a suitable material of construction, including silicone, high molecular weight polymer, thermoplastic elastomer, or polycarbonate urethane as claimed.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 67 and 111 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 09 February 2007 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Examiner's previous arguments are incorporated by reference. In addition, it is noted that the limitation "wherein the spacer is adapted to be inserted between spinous processes in a direction along the longitudinal axis" (claims 60 and 114) amounts to a statement of intended use that the device of Voydeville is capable of performing. It is noted that to satisfy a statement of intended use, the device must merely be at least capable of performing the claimed function and the manner in which this is accomplished need not be the optimum or preferred manner. It is further noted that the definitions supplied by Applicant are not conclusive and are equally subject to other interpretations as set forth in the rejection. If terms are to be given special, exclusive meaning, the specification must clearly set forth the definition explicitly and with reasonable clarity, deliberateness, and precision. Exemplification is not an explicit definition. Even explicit definitions can be subject to varying interpretations. See

Teleflex, Inc. v. Ficosa North America Corp., 63 USPQ2d 1374, 1381 (Fed. Cir. 2002),
Rexnord Corp. v. Laitram Corp., 60 USPQ2d 1851, 1854 (Fed. Cir. 2001), and MPEP 2111.01.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
